A Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicine greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts and holds in solution much better than alcohol would. It also possesses medicinal properties of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It adds greatly to the efficacy of the Black Cherrybark, Golden Seal root, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities. In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherrybark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system. Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages. It will cure very severe, obstinate, chronic coughs, bronchial and laryngeal troubles, and chronic sore throat with hoarseness. In acute coughs it is not so effective. It is in the lingering coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from lungs, that it has performed its most marvelous cures. Send for and read the little book of extracts, treating of the properties and uses of the several medicinal roots that enter into Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and learn why this medicine has such a wide range of application in the cure of diseases. It is sent free. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. The "Discovery" contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drug. Ingredients all printed on each bottle wrapper in plain English. Sick people, especially those suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser. All correspondence is held as strictly private and is sent confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for paper-covered, or 31 stamps for cloth-bound copy.

FIRE ON AN OCEAN STEAMER.

For a day and night the crew of the Veloce line steamer Nord America fought the flames which had broken out in the ship's forward coal bunkers. The steamer was on her last trip from Naples to New York, which ended yesterday, when, smoke begimed and manned by white-faced officers, she crept into port. The Nord America left Naples on September 13. In her stateroom held 85 voyagers. After the first few days out all went well and then when the big vessel was six days nearer to America the most dreaded of all sea perils broke out. The passengers had finished their evening meal and were loitering about the deck enjoying the fine evening when from the ventillator of the forward coal bunker came a tiny blue wisp of smoke. The immigrants thought nothing of it, but it was a gray-faced engineer who reported to Captain Barbieri. Without a word to the passengers the coal passers were put to work to find where the flames were eating their way into the bunkers.

When they finally located the blaze it was seen at once by the officers that they were face to face with a bad fire. The coal had been loaded damp and the whole mass was glowing with flames that only needed a puff of wind to fan them into destructive fury. The immigrants were ordered forward while the hatches were taken off in order that water might be poured on the glowing coals, but when the hatches were hauled off and a dense cloud of yellow smoke rolled out, a scream went up from them. "The ship is on fire. We shall die!" they screamed, reasoning to and fro. Women clutched their babies and hurried to the rail. Then a man's voice called: "To the boat! Lower the boat!"

The crowd took it up. Wild-eyed men and women pressed forward. Some of them wielded knives. The crew fought them back, but they pressed in with the strength of terror. To add to the horrors of the situation the sea began to rise and Captain Barbieri saw that a boat launched in such weather would have no chance of life. He ordered 3 revolvers issued to the crew. Then he stepped up to the bridge and bled the panic-stricken crowd. "You will be safe if you trust to us," he said, "but the first man who tries to cut a rope or to rush the boat will be shot."

The terrified crowd quieted down as they listened and presently the crew drove them below. Then the whole ship's company turned out and fought the fire with steam. It was stubborn and several times it looked as if the ship would have to be abandoned, but they stuck to their work and at last the smoldering mass of coals was extinguished.

In the panic a woman named Julia Fizzmonte, who was on her way to New York to meet her husband, died of a hemorrhage caused by excitement as she fought with the frenzied crowd at the boats to save her children's lives. Social Democracy in Germany. A dispatch from Mannheim, Germany, says that at the annual congress of the social democratic party, yesterday, Dr. Bebel, the socialistic leader in the Reichstag, said that the proposed political strike would not be feasible until the party was so much better prepared and organized that defeat at the polls would be impossible. Were the strike in mass organized now not only would it be certain, but popular it will be. Moreover, a strike mass could not be artificially arranged. It was possible only where the masses were disorganised and ready for it. Even in Russia, where there was less reason than in Germany, the people had refrained from it because it was not considered that the situation was favorable for it. Speaking of the relations of the social democracy to the trade unions, Dr. Bebel said they were now nearer together, the union leaders had said that in case the right of coalition should be infringed they would immediately begin a strike en masse, even without awaiting the word of command from the social democracy. Dr. Bebel freely admitted that the social democratic party could do nothing without the support and cooperation of the unions, as the situation in Russia showed.

Remains Identified.

Mrs. Josephine Benes, of 359 east Twenty-first street, New York, satisfied the police yesterday evening that the victim of Sunday's butchery in the vicinity of west Thirty-sixth street was her husband, Joseph, who deserted her four weeks ago. The head of the dismembered body is still missing, but identification seemed positive from peculiarities of the hands and feet, as well as birthmarks on the body. Benes was 35 years of age, and employed in a carriage factory on Forty-second street. According to his wife, he was sober and industrious, and so far as she knew had no enemies. When he left home he carried a watch, some $22 in cash and a bank book representing deposits of $400. The Benes are Armenians, and came to this country 16 years ago. Recently they quarreled because of the wife's wish that they return to their native country at once. Benes wished to remain in New York two or three years longer, and as an upshot of the contention left his home a month ago.
